Market Commentary

Indian equity benchmarks traded on a weak note throughout the day and ended with a cut of around a percentage point. After Budget 2018, all eyes are now on Reserve Bank of India's (RBI) monetary policy scheduled to be released on February 7. The street expects the status quo on policy rates but the commentary would be key to watch out for. The equity benchmarks made gap-down opening and traded with a cut of around a percent in early deals as traders remained concerned that Union Budget could push up inflation and prompt the central bank to raise interest rates soon. The sentiments were downbeat after global ratings agency, Fitch Ratings said that high debt burden of the government is an obstacle to India's sovereign rating upgrade. For the next fiscal year 2018-19, the government projected fiscal deficit at 3.3% of GDP. Besides, the US-based agency had kept India's sovereign rating unchanged at 'BBB-', the lowest investment grade with stable outlook, citing weak fiscal position. The street took note of DEA Secretary Subhash Chandra Garg's statement that achieving a doubledigit economic growth for India in current global scenario is difficult but the country is on path to clock 8% plus expansion by 2020-21. Garg added that achieving double digit growth is difficult as the growth in the global economy is not that high.

Separately, industry body ASSOCHAM said that the RBI should not over-react to high yield pressures in the bond market and should refrain from hiking interest rates in its next monetary policy review outcome on Februarv 7.
